

BDS - Federal Association of the German Steel Trade - is now conceptual partner of Tube Düsseldorf 2024

As the trade association for German steel distribution, the BDS has been supporting German steel trading companies of regional and international importance for more than five decades.

Many of the Tube exhibitors, the leading international trade fair for tubes and pipes, that takes place every two years in Düsseldorf are members of the association.

"We are very pleased that we have been able to gain a very important and well-known partner in the BDS and that we want to continue to develop the Tube together," says Daniel Ryfisch, Director wire/Tube & Flow Technologies at Messe Düsseldorf.

Already for the upcoming trade fair in 2024, the association is cooperating with Tube Düsseldorf. "Through this cooperation we interact directly with the Tube trade fair, which is important for tube distribution, as an interest group for our member companies," adds Oliver Ellermann, Board of the BDS.

In addition to the ITA (International Tube Association), the BDS is the second industry association that Tube has placed at its side in order to network even more strongly within the industry and to achieve valuable synergies for the Tube exhibitors.
